

Dr Mervyn O'DRISCOLL

Mervyn O'Driscoll MA (NUI), PhD (Cambridge). Senior lecturer in the School of History, UCC. Coordinator of the European Integration Studies and MA in International Relations programmes in the School of History. Main interests include: history of European integration; international history/relations and diplomacy in the twentieth century; Irish foreign policy; and nuclear history/politics. Major publications include: Ireland, Germany and the Nazis, 1919-1939: Politics and Diplomacy (2004); with Dermot Keogh (ed.), Ireland and the Second World War: Neutrality and Survival (2004); with Gordon Lake & Juliet Lodge, The European Parliament and the EURATOM Treaty: Past Present and Future (2002). He has published several scholarly in journals such as Journal of European Integration History, Journal of Cold War Studies, Diplomacy and Statecraft and European History Quarterly. Completing a number of publications as a participant on a Government of Ireland Irish Research Council in the Humanities and Social Sciences (IRCHSS) funded project: Ireland and European integration in a comparative international context, 1945-2002.